

Davonn Walker - 32

“ I am proud to be a firefighter. I think this is one of the most honorable and courageous things a person could do. It's like being part of a very exclusive club. The people I work with are my extended family. We not only live together part of the week, but we help and support each other's families. We have a bond and camaraderie that very few will understand. You literally trust each other with your life. And we know that people trust us with theirs. It can be scary, but it's also a rush. It can be risky, but it's also rewarding. I have definitely found the best of myself in this job. ”
